

Winter 2010 Crystallization Screen Clearance

We have a limited stock of Jena Bioscience screens that are past the stamped expiration date that we are offering for 50% off of the regular prices listed below. The reagents don't undergo significant changes in chemical composition and lose no functionality for screening for protein crystallization. The only possible change is a very minor shift in the pH level of some individual reagents. We store all screens at 4°C.

Your price for each screen will be 50% off the price listed below. Please mention the offer code JBSW10 when placing your order. The available quantities of each screen are indicated.
